

can we not mess up a good thing for once? i am a truck driver and i depend on my xm radio and my traffic and weather to keep me informed of what i can expect when i reach these destinations... on at least one occasion i am sure of and probably more, the traffic and weather station kept me from getting tied up in a traffic jam and allowed me time to search an alternate route in order to make my delivery on time... this free country seems to becoming less free each and every day... this is just another example of that fact
